THE PETER WHITMER HOME was a small log cabin in which The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was organized on April 6, 1830. Six men, among others, gathered in the farm home of Peter Whitmer, Sr., in Fayette, New York. There, according to law, they organized The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Those present were Joseph Smith, the first Prophet of the Church, Oliver Cowdery, Samuel H. Smith, David Whitmer, Hyrum Smith, and Peter Whitmer, Jr. The property passed through many owners, and on April 25, 1926, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints purchased it. The Church now has grown to a worldwide organization of more than five million members.
